t who permanently modify their academic load through extending their study full-time to part-time will have their scholarships adjusted proportionately to reflect these changes. (For example, a student who receives a full-tuition scholarship for full-time study (approximately $24,000/year) would only receive a full-tuition scholarship for part-time study (approximately $15,000/year) af p    k    a permanent    -    time (sak for    s    start    tuiudy